

February 2006

Cold Call Training, The Blitz Experience - Sittig Incorporated is a results oriented, activity based sales training and new business development firm that helps companies increase sales through the creation and implementation of effective coaching programs.

Founder and President Andrea Sittig-Rolf addresses relevant sales and marketing trends and offers powerful, practical guidance for Customer Focused Sales. She skillfully blends content-rich presentations with an entertaining, motivating, conversational style. You will not only learn, but will enjoy yourself while discovering practical, immediately applicable real-world material for real-world results.

Andrea is the developer and exclusive provider of The Blitz Experience™, an activity-based sales training program designed to help salespeople become more effective when prospecting over the phone. Her sales training program is unique because it requires salespeople to practice what they learn the day of the training on real prospects resulting in new business opportunities at the end of the training.

The Maximizer Sales Team recently trained on the Sittig Blitz Experience™ program and we highly recommend the program to you.

If you want to produce amazing sales results and increase your revenues and profits, visit Sittig's web site at www.sittiginc.com for more information.